Skiing Ability

You must CLASSIFY YOURSELF for skier type.
Determining your skier type is your responsibility.

Your skier type, height, weight, age and ski boot sole length are used by the rental shop to determine the release/retention of your ski bindings. Be sure to provide accurate information; any error may increase your risk of injury. You must indicate Type I, II, or III in the Ability section of the ski/snowboarding pre-numbered roster for use by the rental shop.

Type I "cautious skiing at lighter release/retention settings"	Type II "moderate skiing at average release/retention settings"	Type III "aggressive skiing at higher release/retention settings"
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ski conservatively • prefer slower speeds • prefer easy, moderate slopes • favor lower than average release/retention settings This corresponds to an increased risk of inadvertent binding release in order to gain increased releasability in a fall • Type I settings apply to "entry level skiers uncertain of their classification" 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ski moderately • prefer a variety of speeds • ski on varied terrain, including most difficult trails • are all skiers who do not meet all the descriptions of either Type I or Type III 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ski aggressively • normally ski at high speeds • prefer steeper and more challenging terrain • favor higher than average release/retention settings This corresponds to decreased releasability in a fall in order to gain a decreased risk of inadvertent binding release

1. I understand and acknowledge that snowtubing is a dangerous, risk sport and that there are inherent and other risks associated with the sport and that all of these risks can cause serious and even fatal injuries.
2. I understand that part of the thrill, excitement and risk of snowtubing is that the snowtubes all end up in a common, runout area at various times and speeds and that it is my responsibility to try to avoid hitting another snowtuber and it is also my responsibility to try to avoid being hit by another snowtuber, but that notwithstanding these efforts by myself and other snowtubers, there is a risk of collisions.
3. I acknowledge and understand that some, but not necessarily all, of the risks of snowtubing are the following:
